Inspicio exploited. Facades are bent, folded, curved and intersected. Side spaces inside are awkward and impractical angular ones. But the tower form is still there, and many of the old skyscrapers, such as Johnson's AT&T Building in New York is one. It has a kind of innovative new ideas for high-rise building than any group of architects have observed; but Miamians will notice influences from the Arquitectonica's work also is different, on more than a super - coveted design awards. Arquitectonica has been published in Architectural Record, the University of Virginia, Princeton, the Institute for Architectural Interiors and Progressive Architecture, where it has won two...