New Play

‘What The Butler Saw’

...The cast for Florida International University Theatre's second production will again include actors chosen from the community as well as the University.

...Appearing in “What the Butler Saw” will be University theatre majors Mary Pama as Geraldine Barclay, Ray Miles as Nicholas Beckett, and Dan Putman as Dr. Rance. The cast will also include Michelle, Mrs. H., Charles Stone as Dr. Prestice, and Greg Powers as Sgt. Match.

...Described by Director of Theatre Paul Giberson as a “hilariously outrageous sex farce,” the play is set in a psychiatrist’s office in contemporary England. The only native English accent in the cast belongs to Iris Hilton.

...Performances are scheduled for June 1, 2, and 3 in DM 130.

Drug BUST Delays Career

Ms. Sandra Clark
Dean of Student Services

I would like to share some information about the Drug Statute in Florida which I feel will be useful knowledge for you, your family and friends.

It is clear that the illegal use of drugs and marijuana are becoming an all too frequent occurrence all over the nation. Drug use and misuse can be discussed from a moral, legal, medical, psychological, recreational or commercial point of view. Depending on which perspective you choose, positive facts and defensible positions can be made or negative facts and indefensible positions can be developed. Regardless of your own position, there are facts of law and Statutes in this state of drug offenses as spelled out in Florida Statute 239.582.

As Dean of the Division of Student Services, I receive from the State University System Director of Security lists of students adjudicated guilty in this state of drug offenses as spelled out in Florida Statue 239.582.

In essence, it is a policy which might restrict the public education of you or a member of your family for one full year from the date of “court decided” guilt. This does not mean a person need be sentenced. If the person received probation after a guilty verdict, the Statute is still to be carried out.

I implore you to look at these facts more seriously because:

1. The potential of one year’s loss of education is a serious consequence which is only made more serious by having a police, misstep, or felony record.

2. To find good job placements for drug offenders is difficult if not impossible, and the job market is difficult enough without that strike against you.

3. The cost for good legal services concerning a drug case is expensive especially on a student budget.

You may or may not agree with the law or the Statute; however, until it is changed, it will be enforced here and on all the other campuses in the state.

The enforcement process is as follows:

Weekly I receive the list of names and social security numbers of those convicted. I notify Admissions and they make a record as to the first date that person is eligible to be admitted here. This is being done on all public junior and community college campuses and all university campuses. You may have heard of someone who has been admitted even though a year was not up. This is possible since all records are not complete and all cases adjudicated guilty may not be reported to the State University System or the various Divisions of Student Services.

However, the few who are missed should not be considered as the standard operating procedure. Those who are listed

Editorial Board Comments

By Carol Yague

The quality and quantity of food served on our campus has declined significantly in the last few years. I believe it is because people are not interested in the quality of food served. It is not a matter of price, but rather the taste and appeal of the food. The food is not as good as it used to be. The quality of food served has declined in all the dining facilities, including the cafeteria.

Many of us operate on schedules which keep us here for ten to twelve hours a day; per semester. This is a very tiring and frustrating experience. The lack of variety and choice in the food offered is also a problem. We should consider the possibility of allowing clubs and organizations to sell refreshments at performances and events. I believe this would be a good idea.

Mr. Ron Arrowsmith

The first S.G.A. elections held on campus to elect five presiding officers and five senators from each school was a copy of many other student body elections that take place across the nation.

Once again it was a popularity contest rather than decisions based on issues. Echoing our previous experiences/experiences from the first S.G.A. elections, the candidates who got the most votes were those who were organized in slates and no plan of action whatsoever after the elections.

About eight hundred students took time to stop by the polls, most of them wrote in names of some type of recognized student organization on campus. The rest of us did not vote because we did not know the candidates, did not give a damn about the student government. Since S.C.R.A.A. was one of our chances to participate actively in the future of this university.

There is still a way for you to be a living part of F.I.U., there are many positions open in the standing committees of the S.G.A. where you can have a say. Why don't you join the F.I.U. students and parents are aware of this.

The specific of the game are not decided as of now. This is why we need you. If you are interested in the direction of mankind please come and talk with us.

Where and when? We meet at 5 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays in the student lounge 303 E. C. P. If you cannot make it but wish to participate, call Steve Linn 371-2788.

Fla. Statute For Drug Expulsion

239.582 Expulsion of students adjudged guilty of unlawful possession or sale of narcotic drugs.

(1) Any person enrolled as a student in any state supported university or junior college or in a private post secondary professional or technical school who is formally accused of, has the reasonable belief that he has committed, and is guilty of unlawful possession or sale of any narcotic drug, central nervous system stimulant, hallucinogenic drug or drug paraphernalia, shall be tried before a court of competent jurisdiction, if convicted for an offense under this section, and found guilty of unlawful possession or sale of any narcotic drug, central nervous system stimulant, hallucinogenic drug or drug paraphernalia.

(2) If a student is found guilty of unlawful possession or sale of any narcotic drug, central nervous system stimulant, hallucinogenic drug or drug paraphernalia, the student shall be immediately expelled from the university or college where he is enrolled, and the student shall be expelled from all state supported universities or junior colleges for a period of one year.

A large number of students attend a second period class which is not over under 12:45. Thus, for many of us lunch does not come until after 1:00 when the variety of sandwiches offered as daily specials are gone. You have also noticed that the cafeteria does not stock enough of the less expensive sandwiches either; there are days when a dollar has to go a long way.

Many of us operate on schedules which keep us here for ten to twelve hours per day; this lack of quantity limits our diets significantly.

It has been brought to my attention that although the cups for beverages were changed from plastic cups to ones which still contain the same volume, since we are on the subject of drinks, I would like to know why the cafeteria serves sour milkshakes on occasion. I don't know whether it is the fault of the person responsible for cleaning the machinery.

The overall appearance of the dining area is dirty. Persons using the facility should take a little more interest in cleaning the tables when one has finished eating.

If a student is found guilty of unlawful possession or sale of any narcotic drug, central nervous system stimulant, hallucinogenic drug or drug paraphernalia, the student shall be immediately expelled from the university or college where he is enrolled, and the student shall be expelled from all state supported universities or junior colleges or other universities, the candidates who got the most votes were those organized in slates and no plan of action whatsoever after the elections.

Drug/Expulsion cont. from page 1 and denied admission or expelled from current enrollment are the standard.

During October of 1972, the legislature extended the Statute down to include the public high school, so there is the same potential risk of loss of one year's education to any high school student—a very serious age in a young person's life span to be out of school and unoccupied for 12 months. I am not sure most high school students or parents are aware of this.

I hope our student body is better informed by this article and finds the material useful. I will continue to present information of this nature through the student newspaper because it reaches the largest number of our student population. If you wish to discuss this article with me or have topics you feel I need to cover in future articles, please stop by or drop me a note in PC 220.

ATTENTION FINANCIAL AID RECIPIENTS

FINANCIAL AID APPLICATIONS MUST BE FILED FOR EACH ACADEMIC YEAR

Those applications filed by May 1 are given priority consideration.

Students who are newly admitted may apply at the time of admission, but it is desirable, for the benefit of early consideration, that they also apply by May 1 of any academic year.

A Family Financial Statement (ACT) must be completed and mailed to Iowa City, Iowa. Your application for aid is held in a pending file until we receive this statement from ACT.

If you need financial aid beginning in September 1973, you must file immediately. Pick up your packet at the office of student services, p.c. 220.
Watergate is just one
gov't Hanky Panky
Has Many Strange Parts

By Patrick McNally

Some of the pieces of the Watergate scandal that fit together are the Vesco affair, the Mexican Laundry, and of course the Ellsberg case. But to each were men dedicated to Richard Nixon, his politics and his re-election in 1972. This puzzle has already gained its 15th government official after being linked to the Watergate scandal. Most have been within the past two weeks.

The first few pieces of the puzzle start with good old green backs, "cash", thousands of $100 bills stuffed into briefcases and sent to on the Nixon campaign by undisclosed supporters. Much of the money never being reported under campaign gift reporting laws. Here are some of the pieces to the puzzle and how they all fit together.

THE PENTAGON PAPERS:

Two weeks ago Daniel Ellsberg who had been on trial in Washington for leaking government information from the Central Intelligence Agency, for taking "an unprecendented series of actions" against Ellsberg after he was indicted almost two years ago for leaking the Pentagon papers.

In July of 1971, President Nixon ordered presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman to set up a special assignment in the Executive Office Building next door to the White House. It's mission: to collect and disseminate government information from getting into the hands of the press.

The squad was to be known as the plumbers and on September 1, 1971, Ehrlichman, Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt, broke into the offices of Ehrlichman's psychiatrist looking for damaging files on Ellsberg. They apparently left empty handed but their other act and以此 to the dismissal of Ellsberg and Gordon Liddy who were later ordered to go to jail for burglary, conspiracy and bugging. During the Watergate arrests the police recovered thousands of dollars in crisp $100 bills. Since the trial higher Nixon officials have been implicated in the bugging and later cover up. They include former Attorney General John Mitchell, Richard M. Nixon, and former White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman and others.

The puzzle also includes the Vesco Affair and the Mexican Laundry Affair both dealing with campaign funds. At the present time Grand Juries in Washington, Houston, New York, and Los Angeles are now looking into various aspects of the scandal. At the present time Sam J. Ervin (D.N.C.) Chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities is holding hearings into the Watergate Affair and its cover up. The televised hearings started last Thursday and will continue until at least the middle of June. They have already touched on all aspects of the tangled Watergate scandal.

Secret Nixon Campaign funds, a college-age spy network planted in Democratic Organizations, wire taps to plug news leaks, the burglary of a psychiatrist's office to get dirt on a federal defendant and a massive coverup of the whole affair. As time continues the Watergate Puzzle will be put together piece by piece. Presently the whole puzzle will be completed only time will tell.

THE WATERGATE AFFAIR:

On June 17, 1972 five men in business suits, wearing rubber surgical gloves and carrying television cameras and electronic gear were arrested at gun point in the Headquarters of the Democratic National Committee. Among those arrested E. Howard Hunt and Gordon Liddy who were later sent to jail for burglary, conspiracy and bugging. During the Watergate arrests the police recovered four men carrying thousands of dollars in crisp $100 bills. Since the trial higher Nixon officials have been implicated in the bugging and later cover up. They include former Attorney General John Mitchell, Richard M. Nixon, and former White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman and others.

Over the summer we will be evaluating the process we've used this past year and hope to make things even easier next year.

To begin with the Advance Payment procedure being Fall Quarter, so those Veterans that sign up for it should have their checks on time to pay their fall tuition. The Regional Office will be contacting all the Spring Quarter Veterans as to how to sign up for Advance Payment. One Certificate is good for the entire time you attend any one school, unless you make a program change and then you will have to request another Certificate.

At this time, the only thing necessary to begin benefits in the Fall, is that you fill out a V.A. Certification Request Card when you preregister. If there are any changes, you will be notified by mail, so let the V.A. Office know if you move during the summer.

Beginning Fall Quarter, a new program MAY be available for additional money to be earned by Veterans. Public Law 92-540 provides for a work study allowance for Veterans who are pursuing a full-time program of education or training. Under Chapter 31 or Chapter 34.

The maximum allowance is $250 for 190 hours of service agreed to be performed during an enrollment period. No veteran will be given a Certificate of Eligibility of more than $250 in any one fiscal year. Since the Veterans Administration is the actual employer, they have set the areas of work to consist of the following: processing paperwork at the school and the Veterans Administration, services at the school and Veteran's Administration medical installation.

In addition to your regular human life better along a wide field of study, which Dr. Tikofsky doesn't believe can be here over the summer, it will not be necessary to obtain these Certificates of Eligibility for Fall Quarter. One Certificate is good for the entire time you attend any one school, unless you make a program change and then you will have to request another Certificate.

At this time, the only thing necessary to begin benefits in the Fall, is that you fill out a V.A. Certification Request Card when you preregister. If there are any changes, you will be notified by mail, so let the V.A. Office know if you move during the summer.
New Facilities To Serve

By Neil Herman

It's always a disappointment for me that so few students know about the various community services which offer everything from medical help to apartment hunting. One such service is the South Dade Community Health at 2631 South Dixie Hwy.

Until the new facilities are made ready the Center will continue to operate out of the seven trailers which have been provided for them by Dade County.

The Center is funded by the Univ. of Miami and Dade County, and is not adverse to accepting donations. The purpose of the Center, says Dr. Perry, is "to provide comprehensive care for everyone in this country." Judith stressed the word country, because the Center treats all people in need regardless of their residence.

The underlying concept of the Center is preventive medicine. More than to just treat people, we try to teach them to care for their health so they will not have to come back to the Center," continued Judith.

Judith—looking tired, but relaxed—was directing her tour of the Center that morning—impressed upon us that "the Center is not just about the individual, but is about health care for the whole family. We work to cause emotional and social change as well as a physical one. We are very concerned with the mind as well as the body."

The Social Workers have MSW degrees, or are working toward one, and the nurses are all RN's or LPN's. The doctors are interns from the Univ. of Miami fulfilling their residence requirement by working at the Center. Most have chosen to have their residence there, and all are highly qualified and possess a genuine feeling for people.

The center's services include a Specialty unit, an emergency unit, a mental health unit, and a psychological and counseling unit. According to Judith, the staff and emergency units "are almost as well equipped as Jackson Hospital."

In this setting, only patients are given a rating ac-

Andersson Named Relations Dean

The Board of Regents, meeting in Tallahassee today, appointed 81-year-old Maria W. Anderson, a leading Florida newspaperwoman and woman's rights activist, to the University Commission on the Status of Women, as Dean of University Relations at Florida International University in Miami. Ms. Anderson is the only woman to hold a Deanship in this position in the State University System of Florida.

Now a feature writer and special projects coordinator with the Miami Herald, Ms. Anderson was nominated for the position by Dr. Charles E. Perry, President of Florida International.

"Marie Anderson has an outstanding Florida journalism and editor for more than 30 years," said Dr. Perry. "She has an excellent reputation in her field and she works extremely well with people. She will bring a great deal of experience to the University and we are very fortunate to have a woman of her caliber on the Florida International staff."

Ms. Anderson has broad knowledge of the University's operation, having served as one of the original members of the Florida International University Foundation Board of Trustees. Ms. Anderson brings to her new post a distinguished career in media and public service. From 1969 to 1971, she served as cont. on page 7

Experience of Teacher To Be; Opens New Adventure by Andy Stuart

I arrived promptly at my destination. I was to meet my fellow classmates there and we would be assigned a young boy to teach. These boys come from broken families and some of them are emotionally disturbed. I walked in the door and saw Linda. She was huffing and puffing and searching what was now an empty hall. “Have you seen it?” she yelled, “where are my glasses?” she asked, half pleading, I shook my head, unable to help her. “Oh, you wouldn’t believe this one...he’s a devil...the worst one ever. This is the third time I’ve lost him, and I’ve only been here eleven minutes!” I thought she was kidding. “What’s his name?” I asked her. “I’ll tell you if I hear anything,” I said trying to help. “It’s George,” she said, “He said something as she raced down the hall.”

Mr. X came in the hall and asked if I was one of the students, from FIU. He ushered me into his office and started explaining the “system” to me. “I’m going to assign you to Freddy on Monday. He’s a young boy that we’ve had here for two months now. He’s below his grade level, below his age group, but is eager to learn, I don’t think he’ll give you any trouble,” he said looking over Freddy’s folder. “I’ll have to assign you Peter for the following day. He’s a real charmer,” I replied that I wouldn’t teach him. “What’s that won’t work.” He looked at the charts for a little while longer and then gave up. “He squinted his eyes as he stared at me.” “Tell you what I’m going to do, I think you have a good head on your shoulders, I’m going to give you George.” Remembering my entrance scene I said “I don’t really, everyone just thinks my head’s good...I feel a lot of people that way,” I was desperate. “I’m not one to chase healthy little boys all over creation.” “No, I’m sure of it,” he agreed. “I’m not going to try to bring my suit of armor and whip,” Suddenly he said, “Oh no, that won’t work.” He looked at the charts for a little while longer and then gave up. “He squinted his eyes as he stared at me.” “Tell you what I’m going to do, I think you have a good head on your shoulders, I’m going to give you George.” Remembering my entrance scene I said “I don’t really, everyone just thinks my head’s good...I feel a lot of people that way,” I was desperate. “I’m not one to chase healthy little boys all over creation.” “No, I’m sure of it,” he agreed. “I’m not going to try to bring my suit of armor and whip,” Suddenly he said, “Oh no, that won’t work.” He looked at the charts for a little while longer and then gave up. “He squinted his eyes as he stared at me.” “Tell you what I’m going to do, I think you have a good head on your shoulders, I’m going to give you George.”

Meet The Courts

A View At Problems In Municipal Courts

By Steve Maloney

David Johnson was recently arrested in Hialeah for loitering and prowling. Johnson was imprisoned for four days before trial because he had no bail money. He wasn’t informed of his right to an attorney when he was arraigned in the municipal court. Even if Johnson had a public defender present was the judge sentenced him to ten days in jail.

David Johnson is a mythical person. But the situation described is real. Municipal courts throughout Dade County regularly conduct unconstitutinal practices and unconstitutinal procedures.

The most glaring deficiency municipal courts share are their virtually non-existent public defender services.

Only Miami Beach has a public defender at every court session. Other localities, such as Opa-locka, sometime have third-year law students represent indigent defendants.

Many municipalities, such as Coral Gables, have no public defenders.

Even when a public defender is available, very often defendants aren’t aware they’re entitled to one. This reporter regularly saw municipal judges neglect to inform defendants of their right to counsel.

This practice is unconstitutional. Recent Supreme Court decisions have stated a public defender must be present at every court session and that defendants must be informed of their right to use him.

Defendants without bail money also faced days of incarceration before appearing in front of a judge. This is because most municipal courts operate one or two days a week. A person arrested in Surfside, for instance, can spend up to six days in jail before trial. Someone arrested in Hialeah can be jailed up for four days.

Even in Miami Beach, which is the only city that holds court every weekday, someone arrested without bail money on Friday, can spend the weekend in jail before their trial.

This situation often forces defendants who might be innocent to plead guilty to the hope they might be freed by receiving a suspended sentence.

The reason for this is that if a defendant pleads not guilty, the judge will continue the trial so witness can be summoned. This present the defendant with the sad prospect of more days in jail before his trial comes up.

An affordable city like Miami Beach is not courts are they aren’t courts of record (In other words, no court reporter present).

One abuse the lack of a court reporter causes is the judge will often act in an unjudicial manner because the judge knows no record is being kept of his actions.

This reporter observed a significant improvement in judicial behavior when defendants supplied themselves with a court reporter.

A report of the court reporter very often makes it impossible for judges to act unjudicially because the judge knows no record is being kept of his actions.

The expense of hiring a court reporter is prohibitive to many people.

Municipal courts will be merged into the state court system by 1977. But this still gives them four years to continue their present abuses.

This fact should concern all of us.

Editor’s Note: This is the concluding installment of an in-depth look at the Florida Court system. Page one has information about the drug law which ACTION hopes will keep our fellow students out of the legal system.

Who can be a judge? For the Dade County Court all judges must be lawyers. If a person has been a lawyer for at least five years, he is then eligible for judgeship in the Circuit Court. To become a judge for either the District Court of Appeal or the Supreme Court, one must have been a lawyer for at least ten years. Each judge may not have a private law practice nor hold office in any political party. He must devote his full time to his judicial duties.

The people elect all the judges. When the judges run for election, they do so without party affiliation. If a judgeship becomes vacant before an election, the governor appoints a replacement. He chooses from a list of names selected by a judicial nominating commission of lawyers and laymen.

Suppose you feel that a judge has conducted himself unjustly, who can you complain to? To file any complaints against a judge write to:

This study assesses all cases of possible misconduct on the part of a judge and recommends in the Supreme Court what action should be taken. The Supreme Court may discipline a judge, suspend him or even resign or he may be removed from office.

Teacher To Be

Opens New Adventure

By Andy Stuart

I had long waited for the day when I'd be set "out in the fields." My dreams came true when my professor informed me that I had successfully completed part "A" of my module. In case any of you out there don't know what a module is, you've been blessed. It's like human monogamy. Only instead of passing "Gin" and collecting one, you're called and "advance to the next step" field experience number one!

"Never mind," I thought. "I'm repeating this stuff..."

"We found him. Linda had cornered him in the recreation room.

"Linda, Andi will take over for you when you get tired." I made a mental note to bring Linda a good supply of vitamins and a week's worth of nuts for energy. We started looking over the "nothing much" dried blood.

"Let's guess," I said closing the draw card.

"What?"

"Never mind." I walked him to the door. "If you want to play games with him, you're welcome to the boys like a break every now and then," he said.

"Oh, really that's nice. Could I bring my own materials?"

"Sure.

"Good idea. Why? What do you have in mind?"

"Oh, I thought we'd play cowboys and indians. I'll bring handcuffs and a rope."

"Oh, come now" he laughed, "I'm not that bad, doesn't a child like George make you want to hurry up and get your degree?"

"Yeah, in secretarial science."

I walked back to my car. In a cloud of dust I saw what must be a little boy, running through the fields. Right behind him ran Linda. She stopped by my car for a minute to get her breath. "I just heard we're going to share him."
Baseball in Central America ... where college ballplayers are given the hearty welcome of professionals, in a land where people from all levels of society abandon their television sets in a land where people from all levels of society abandon their television sets and flock to the baseball fields. The visit to Central America, which had its beginnings in Guatemala, marked the end of the efforts of the school's inaugural baseball team, in its first year within the collegiate baseball ranks.

The Sunblazers, the University of Miami's baseball team, entered Guatemala, Honduras, and Nicaragua, to play a ten-game schedule, with the promotion of American collegiate interests in mind. They emerged from Latin American soil with seven wins under their belts, to give the Sunblazers a 41-25 record, in what Wonderling termed to be "the culmination of a hard working, patient, and understanding season on the part of his players, under adverse conditions, where they traveled almost daily to distant junior college fields within the Miami area to meet the majority of their opponents." Their sixth victory of the trip—a 5-2, over Central America. Head Coach Ralph Alvarez, Tom Wonderling, Head Coach, John Perez, and Julio Blance who helped to organize team.

Dean Glenn A. Gaethe accepts one of the many momentos on the Sunblazers baseball tour of Central America. Head Coach Tom Wonderling makes the presentation. The trophy read, "Baseball the winner of the series Honduras U.S. Florida International University."

Confidence was instilled into the FIU team in the initial game against Motos Suzuki, where Miamian Howie Finkelstein gave the Sunblazers an early lead with a three-run homer in the second inning and a run scoring double in the third, producing an 8-2 victory. Florida International's winning ways were revived in the 10th inning against the Leon book players. Sam Lombardo pitched a five-hit shutout to give the Sunblazers a 3-0 and 7-4 victory over Medias Verdes. The Sunblazers played their four remaining games in Nicaragua for the benefit of the Relief Fund, established to rebuild the city of Managua, destroyed by an earthquake last December. The FIU bats could not manage to get the runs across, as the Nicaraguans All-Stars utilized their defensive efforts to stop FIU. 4:4. Canadian pitcher for the Sunblazers, Guy Bellevance could not match the Latin talent, and hurled for four innings before he was relieved by FIU's number one pitching prospect, former Austin Peay star, Bill Fireline, who tossed for five innings of no hit ball.

Florida International's winning ways were revived in the 10th inning against the Leon book players. Sam Lombardo pitched a five-hit shutout to give the Sunblazers a 3-0 and 7-4 victory over Medias Verdes. The Sunblazers played their four remaining games in Nicaragua for the benefit of the Relief Fund, established to rebuild the city of Managua, destroyed by an earthquake last December. The FIU bats could not manage to get the runs across, as the Nicaraguans All-Stars utilized their defensive efforts to stop FIU. 4:4. Canadian pitcher for the Sunblazers, Guy Bellevance could not match the Latin talent, and hurled for four innings before he was relieved by FIU's number one pitching prospect, former Austin Peay star, Bill Fireline, who tossed for five innings of no hit ball.

Students Bring Industry Executives To Campus

To enable the students to gain additional practical experience, the School of Hotel, Food and Travel Services hosted the May meeting of the South Florida chapter of the Hotel Association of America.

The reception and dinner portion of the meeting was completely planned, prepared and served by students in the School's Volume Feeding Management course.

The seminar was taught by Professors George Conrad and Charles Divento of the School of Hotel, Food and Travel Services, both members of the Hotel Association's Association, will focus on a different South Florida hotel, club or restaurant each week.

Students will tour the operation, meet with various executives, and then prepare a written report on their observations, which will be discussed with the management executives of each company.

Uncle Walt's Fishing Hole

Fish have a very keen sense of smell—some better than others. Their nostrils open into blind sacs, which are lined with sensory organs of smell.

In their wild state, there are very few fish that die of old age. As fish become older and feeble, they lose their ability to stand off predators. If a fish should survive to the age of 10 or 15 years, it can really be called an "old timer."

The moral of this story is that if you explain these little tidbits before you go, you’ll have an enjoyable and profitable day afloat. Good weather and great fishing.

American Revolution
And Florida

"Eighteenth Century Florida and the Caribbean" is the theme of the Second Annual Symposium of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Florida on June 1 and 2. The symposium is being sponsored in cooperation with the Division of University Services and Continuing Education of Florida International University. The program will be held at the DeSoto Hotel on Miami Beach.

As part of the Florida Commission's program for the observance of the 200th anniversary of the nation's independence, will bring together scholars and other interested persons to examine the role of Eighteenth Century Florida and its relationship to the Caribbean community in order to develop primary source material and new interpretations of the history of Florida during the American Revolution.

Registration fee for the symposium is $8.50 per person with an additional $0.00 for the June 1 luncheon. Featured speaker for the luncheon is Mr. Philip Sherman, Secretary General of the Association of the Caribbean Universities and Research Institutes.

Reservations for the symposium are necessary and should be made with the Division of University Services and Education of Florida International University. For further information call 253-2300, Ext. 2392.

Dr. Ronald Tikofsky

"Psychology has to go public"

By Bob Foreman

"Psychology has to go public." With this quote from George Miller, Dr. Ronald Tikofsky, chairman of the FIU psychology department, expressed his conviction that many psychologists must come out of their laboratories and become active, integral members of their communities.

Most people think of psychology as being for the mentally ill. The science did indeed begin in efforts to help people with mental illness and this is still an important part of its work. But, Dr. Tikofsky enthusiastically explained, there is more and more it can do to help the psychologically healthy.

Many of society's problems, such as psycho-social and environmental problems, may be better understood, he believes, if some of the knowledge and technology gained in the laboratory is applied to everyday life.

He pointed out that experimental psychology was important in World War II and that some psychological knowledge is being used today.

Such knowledge, for example, is being applied in some aspects of behavior modification and in some areas of industry. He made it clear, though, that he believes this is only the barest hint of the service psychologists can give to us all.

A lot of important information about perception, skill-learning and many other functions is not yet being applied to the day to day problems and responsibilities of life.

One reason for this, he said, is that the researchers who acquired the information have not gotten out and tried to apply it.

Also, the public idea of psychology as something only for the mentally ill has tended to restrain its wider use.

And what is this wider use of psychological knowledge? How can psychologists help improve your life?
