FIU also has several other locations across South Florida: FIU@I-75, an academic facility in nearby Broward County; the Engineering Center, a 40-acre research facility located near MMC; FIU Downtown on Brickell; and the Miami Beach Urban Studios (MBUS) on South Beach. Three fully accredited museums are a part of FIU’s portfolio: the Patricia and Phillip Frost Art Museum at MMC; the Wolfsonian FIU; and the Jewish Museum of Florida-FIU- both on South Beach. FIU also has the Marriott Tianjin China Program with the Chaplin School of Hospitality and Tourism Management — and the Aquarius Reef Base, the world’s only undersea research lab.

Michele Ciccazzo
University Service

Michele Ciccazzo, Ph.D., R.D., Dean Emerita for the Robert Stempel College of Public Health & Social Work, was one of the founding faculty members in the Department of Dietetics and Nutrition when the university admitted its first students in 1972.

Ciccazzo has spent more than 40 years in higher education, with more than 15 years in administration at FIU. She served as Dean of Stempel College from 2012 to 2014 and as Interim Dean twice before that. Her former administrative roles at FIU include Interim Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, Department Chair of Dietetics & Nutrition and Associate Dean of two colleges.

As Dean, Ciccazzo oversaw important milestones in the Stempel College's history, including various accreditations. During her leadership, the college ranked 23rd in National Institutes of Health funding among schools of public health and became a leader in educating minority public health students. She also oversaw the groundbreaking of the college's new, 67,000-square-foot building, a facility designed to promote interdisciplinary collaboration.

Her research focuses on community-based nutrition education programs and sports nutrition for children and young adults. With funding from the Florida Department of Education, she developed a nutrition curriculum for middle and high school students, which was implemented statewide in Florida and later in Virginia.

Ciccazzo has twice received an Outstanding Dietetic Educator Award by the American Dietetic Association (now Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics). She was also honored with the FIU Teaching Incentive Program Award and the President's Distinguished Service Award for Excellence from the Alliance for Aging.

FIU Medallion

George Batchelor

Cal Kovens Distinguished Community Service Award Posthumous

Decorated World War II veteran. Aviation pioneer. Business entrepreneur. Generous philanthropist. All of these describe the remarkable man that was George Batchelor, someone whose colorful life served as the foundation for an enduring philanthropic legacy.

Batchelor learned to fly at the young age of 16. He began his aviation career in his twenties by helping to design the P-51 fighter plane, which was manufactured by North American Aviation during World War II. It was during that conflict that he served his country as an aviation officer and transport and bomber pilot. He was honored with the Air Medal in 1945 and eventually attained the rank of captain.

At the war's conclusion, Batchelor embarked upon a remarkable 50-year career in aviation. He started Arrow Air in California, operating from a tiny hut at Lomita Air Strip. He purchased his first aircraft, a DC-3, in 1947, flew it solo from Hawaii to California, and then sold it for a profit. He went on to found several subsidiary aviation businesses and earn a reputation as one of America's greatest aircraft entrepreneurs.

He amassed untold wealth during his lifetime and dedicated most of it to the less fortunate. His creation of The Batchelor Foundation in 1990, one of the largest foundations in the country, ensures that his generosity of spirit will live on for generations to come. An active, vital force in South Florida, he took a deep and genuine interest in the welfare of our children and our community's natural environment. At FIU alone, his legacy includes, through his foundation, more than $14 million in support of, among other areas, the International Center for Tropical Botany, the Herbert Wertheim College of Medicine and the Center for Children and Families.

Batchelor passed away in July 2002, but his generosity of spirit continues to transform our community and positively impact countless lives.

THE COMMENCEMENT:

An Academic Tradition

At every academic institution, commencement exercises are the high point of the calendar for students and their families. Since the purpose of a college or university is to prepare its students to merit the conferral of an academic degree, the commencement ceremony serves as the instrument for exhibiting the success of both the university and its students in fulfilling this primary goal. The rites involved in the celebration of commencement stem from civilization's earliest times. In fact, the very word, commencement, means a beginning. If you are familiar with the trappings of this grand ceremony, you are aware that the traditions carried forth from medieval days are revealed in all of their pomp, color and symbolism. It is a celebration of new beginnings. For participants and observers alike, commencement is meant to be both self-serving and an emotional experience.

The Chain of Office

The university president is the ceremony's convener and chief presider at the commencement ceremonies. The great chain, which is the FIU chain of office, is displayed on stage. This ancient symbol is perhaps the most beautiful and artistic of any of the accoutrements of the ceremony. During the Renaissance, holders of very high office sometimes wore a chain as a symbol of their authority. FIU's chain is made of sterling silver and its designs are cast, cut and etched. The center medallion represents the world and is surrounded by sea shells cast from an actual shell. Reflecting the university and the South Florida area are the eight ovals which make up the chain-designed by Clem Pennington, associate professor of art education, now retired, and created in 1977 by Leo Shirker, a Miami goldsmith, art teacher and FIU alumnus.

Grand Marshal

The leader of the academic procession is the Grand Marshal. At FIU, this prestigious honor goes to the chairperson of the Faculty Senate, which is the democratic collegial governance body of the faculty.

The Mace

The Grand Marshal carries a ceremonial club called a mace. In antiquity, when an official of high rank went out in public, a mace-bearer was assigned to accompany him in order to literally beat away those who got close enough to try to petition the favors of the official. Today, the bearing of the university's mace is ceremonial in nature, signifying the authority and authenticity of those who are to follow.

The Dais Party

The Dais Party is also known as the Platform Party. This group is composed of the university's administrative leaders and very special guests. The Dais Party enters the hall before the faculty and proceeds directly to stage.

Academic Regalia

The tradition of wearing distinctive academic attire at commencement ceremonies originated in Europe in the 12th century. However, gowns and capes had been worn by clerics and ecclesiastics even before that date. A heavy black or brown gown was apparently worn at all times. Hoods and capes were also a necessity during the long, cold European winters because the buildings in which scholars lived, studied and taught were cold and drafty. When not being used to provide warmth, hoods and baggy sleeves served the same purpose as do today's pockets. The academic costume at

English universities (from which many of our American commencement traditions originate) can be traced as far back as the middle of the 14th century, to the time when scholars were rebuked that a decent habit was to be worn (Statutes of Peterhouse, 1344). The faculties of American universities have worn academic garb for commencement ceremonies since the beginning of the system. For almost 250 years, each university chose its own costume until it was realized that in 1896 an event unique in history would be taking place. This was the simultaneous celebrations of the 250th anniversary of Harvard University and the 500th anniversary of Heidelberg University. Because of this unique circumstance, the Intercollegiate Bureau of Academic Costume was opened in 1895 to record the distinctive colors of institutions, their arrangement, the particulars of gowns, hoods and caps, as well as information pertaining to academic ceremonies. At that time, an American code of academic dress was agreed upon to which we adhere today with few modifications. Since Spring 2011, FIU has selected to use earth-friendly academic regalia for undergraduate and graduate students. The fabric is manufactured from molten plastic pellets recycled from approximately 23 water bottles and feels like traditional fabric. This initiative underlines FIU's commitment to sustainability. At Florida International University, whose colors are blue and gold, the traditional colors of the disciplines are:

Master's candidates wear black gowns and bachelor's candidates wear blue gowns with the following tassel and hood colors representing degrees:

Architecture	Blue Violet
Arts and Sciences	White
Business	Drab

The Honors College

The Honors College provides top students with an interdisciplinary education that complements their majors. The heart of the college is its creative, active and supportive community of outstanding students, superb teachers, accomplished researchers and dedicated staff. Honors College scholars are admitted competitively into a transformational college where they pursue both academic and personal excellence. The curriculum emphasizes critical, integrative and creative thinking; group and independent research; oral and written communication; close contact between students and faculty; and integration of class work with the world outside the university. Students can satisfy requirements by choosing from an array of advanced seminars that complement their major studies by participating in study abroad, and/or by undertaking extended research through the groundbreaking Advanced Research and Creativity in Honors (ARCH) program and an Honors-to-Grad (H2G) program that provides stipends to students working with faculty on funded research projects.

Honors students embrace their responsibility to the larger society, and engage in service-research that directly benefits external communities, such as the Worlds Ahead Honors-Sweetwater Partnership. Students also take advantage of lectures by distinguished speakers, professional training dinners and seminars, social activities, the Honors Place living-learning wings in campus housing, partnerships with other university units and colleges, the Honors Education in the Arts (HEARTS) program, and study abroad, with intensive opportunities to study and interact with other cultures.
