Lecture by Antonio G. Rodiles and Amelia María Rodríguez Cala

August 7, 2013 | 6:30p.m. | FIU Modesto A. Maidique Campus | DM 110

Antonio G. Rodiles is Director of Estado de SATS, a forum created in 2010 by a group of young artists, intellectuals, and professionals to encourage debate about social, cultural, and political issues in Cuba. Dr. Rodiles is also the main coordinator of the Citizen Demand for Another Cuba, an initiative calling for Cuba to ratify the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the International Covenant on Economic, Social, and Cultural Rights. Rodiles holds a Ph.D. in Physics from the National Autonomous University of Mexico and a Master's in Mathematics from Florida State University.

Amelia María Rodríguez Cala was born in Pinar del Río, Cuba. She holds a law degree from the University of Havana. She has pursued advanced studies in family, real estate, penal, and civil law. She has also taught law at the University of Havana. Since 1984 she has worked at the Salvador Allende collective law office in Cuba. Since the 1990s, she has represented many political dissidents.

This event is cosponsored by the FIU College of Law and the Václav Havel Initiative for Human Rights and Diplomacy. The event will be held in Spanish and is free and open to the public. For additional information and to RSVP call (305) 348-1991.
