Commencement Speaker

Amy Alexy
Vice President, Global Talent
Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines

Amy Alexy is vice president of Global Talent at Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines. In her role, Alexy leads talent attraction, talent enablement, learning and leadership development, diversity and inclusion and employee experience. Her team enables Royal Caribbean's brands to provide exceptional guest experiences through hiring and accelerating the development of talent — both on land and at sea.

As an executive coach, Alexy has worked with leaders to prepare them for next-level roles, transition to new leadership positions and build top teams. She has worked across a wide range of industries, including manufacturing, financial services, pharmaceuticals, consumer goods and hospitality.

Earlier this year, Alexy helped spearhead the creation of RCL Day at FIU. To increase FIU students' competitiveness in the job market, the organization worked with FIU's Career and Talent Development to host an on-campus Resume Fest. RCL recruiters spent one-on-one time with students, providing feedback on their resumes. Through RCL Day, Royal Caribbean extended its commitment to growing local talent in the local community.

Throughout her career, Alexy has held roles in marketing, business development, M&A, supply chain and operations. Prior to joining Royal Caribbean, she led the global talent function for Sandoz, a division of Novartis Pharmaceuticals in Munich, Germany. She also served as vice president of Global Talent at Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company for six years.

She holds an MBA from Kent State University and a bachelor's degree in communications from Walsh University. She is a native of Akron, Ohio, and resides in Parkland, Florida, with her husband David and kids Isaac and Ashley.

Honorary Degree

Charles R. “Chipper” Wichman, Jr.

Doctor of Science, honoris causa

Charles R. “Chipper” Wichman Jr. is the president of the National Tropical Botanical Garden (NTBG), a congressionally chartered nonprofit organization headquartered on the island of Kauai in Hawaii. NTBG manages four botanical gardens and five preserves in Hawaii and a botanical garden in Coconut Grove, Florida.

In 2011, Wichman began working with FIU to create a partnership between the university and NTBG that would address global threats to tropical plants, generate new knowledge and products from plants, and educate the next generation of tropical botanists. The partnership resulted in the creation of the International Center for Tropical Botany at The Kampong, a preeminent program at FIU.

Born in Honolulu, Wichman began working at NTBG in 1976 conducting botanical surveys. He discovered many new species of plants and helped to pioneer methods of rappelling down cliffs to hand pollinate species threatened with extinction. For the past 43 years, Wichman has held various leadership positions at NTBG. He was director of two of the organization’s five gardens before he was promoted to CEO in 2003. In 2019, he transitioned from CEO to president with a focus on external relations and international collaborations.

Under his leadership, NTBG developed strategic plans that addressed 21st-century challenges. NTBG is now the recognized leader in biodiscovery in the Pacific and the international effort to implement the Global Strategy for Plant Conservation. NTBG is also working with the International Union for Conservation of Nature to “red list” threatened species.

Wichman holds a degree in horticulture from the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa, where he graduated at the top of his class. In 2018, he received the Medal of Honor from the Garden Club of America for his outstanding leadership and lifetime contributions to advance the conservation of plants.

FIU Medallion — University Service

Yesim Darici

Yesim Darici is a professor of physics, director of the Center for Women's and Gender Studies (CWGS) and assistant provost of STEM at FIU.

In her nearly 33 years at the university, the theoretical and experimental physicist has garnered research funding from the Department of Energy and National Science Foundation, written dozens of articles for peer-reviewed journals, presented dozens of scientific papers at national and international conferences and secured a patent.

One of Darici's proudest contributions is her pivotal role in promoting diversity and new opportunities for others. The first female physics professor at a university in Florida, the Turkish-born Darici for six years served as the education officer for an organization dedicated to advancing and celebrating Hispanic-American physicists, sat on the American Physical Society's committee to promote initiatives that attract women and minorities to careers in physics, worked with federally funded programs to engage South Florida high schoolers from economically underserved areas and coordinated physics workshops for local teachers. She has championed STEM initiatives for the underrepresented at FIU, including two National Science Foundation-funded projects to increase diversity among its faculty.

As an educator, scientist, activist and a trailblazer, her achievements have been recognized locally, nationally and globally. Her awards include the "In the Company of Women" Outstanding Women in Science and Technology Award, FIU President's Access and Equity Award, the FIU Foundation "Excellence in Teaching" Award, and the Florida State University System "Teaching Incentive Program" Award.

Darici received her Ph.D. in physics from the University of Missouri-Columbia in 1985. She held positions as a scientist at Amoco Research Center in Naperville, Illinois, and as a post-doctoral research associate at West Virginia University before joining FIU in 1987.

FIU Medallion – Outstanding Alumna

Mercedes Viana Schlapp '94

Mercedes Viana Schlapp is a senior advisor for the Trump Pence campaign. For the last two years, she has served as assistant to President Donald J. Trump and senior advisor for strategic communications in The White House. Previously, she was a columnist for The Washington Times, a FOX News contributor and co-host of a weekly radio show on Sirius XM Patriot, CPAC 365, with American Conservative Union Chairman Matt Schlapp, her husband.

Inspired by her father, who was a political prisoner in Fidel Castro's Cuba in the 1960s, Schlapp discovered her passion for politics at a young age. Her father's experience in Cuba gave her a clear understanding of the need to protect freedom and democracy in the United States and around the world.

Prior to her role with the current administration, Schlapp was director of specialty media for President George W. Bush, serving as a spokesperson for the president.

Schlapp has worked on local and national political campaigns, including the 2000 and 2004 presidential campaigns for Bush, and served as a surrogate for Trump. She has also worked at the Republican National Committee, hosting an online show in English and Spanish.

The Miami native appears frequently on Sunday shows and several FOX News programs, including Special Report, Hannity, America's Newsroom, Fox and Friends, Outnumbered and The Story. She also has appeared on NBC, ABC, MSNBC, PBS and CNN. A first generation Cuban-American, she is fluent in Spanish, providing political commentary for Univision, Telemundo, CNN en Español and national Spanish radio.

A co-founder of Cove Strategies, Schlapp has developed and implemented media strategy for corporate and non-profit organizations. Early in her career, she opened FIU's first governmental relations office in Washington, D.C.

Schlapp earned her bachelor's degree at FIU in Political Science and her master's degree from The George Washington University. She and her husband live in Virginia with their five daughters.

THE COMMENCEMENT:

An Academic Tradition

At every academic institution, commencement exercises are the high point of the calendar for students and their families. Since the purpose of a college or university is to prepare its students to merit the conferral of an academic degree, the commencement ceremony serves as the instrument for exhibiting the success of both the university and its students in fulfilling this primary goal. The rites involved in the celebration of commencement stem from civilization's earliest times. In fact, the very word, commencement, means a beginning. If you are familiar with the trappings of this grand ceremony, you are aware that the traditions carried forth from medieval days are revealed in all of their pomp, color and symbolism. It is a celebration of new beginnings. For participants and observers alike, commencement is meant to be both self-serving and an emotional experience.

The Chain of Office

The university president is the ceremony's convener and chief presider at the commencement ceremonies. The great chain, which is the FIU chain of office, is displayed on stage. This ancient symbol is perhaps the most beautiful and artistic of any of the accoutrements of the ceremony. During the Renaissance, holders of very high office sometimes wore a chain as a symbol of their authority. FIU's chain is made of sterling silver and its designs are cast, cut and etched. The center medallion represents the world and is surrounded by sea shells cast from an actual shell. Reflecting the university and the South Florida area are the eight ovals which make up the chain—designed by Clem Pennington, associate professor of art education, now retired, and created in 1977 by Leo Shirker, a Miami goldsmith, art teacher and FIU alumnus.

Grand Marshal

The leader of the academic procession is the Grand Marshal. At FIU, this prestigious honor goes to the chairperson of the Faculty Senate, which is the democratic collegial governance body of the faculty.

The Mace

The Grand Marshal carries a ceremonial club called a mace. In antiquity, when an official of high rank went out in public, a mace-bearer was assigned to accompany him in order to literally beat away those who got close enough to try to petition the favors of the official. Today, the bearing of the university's mace is ceremonial in nature, signifying the authority and authenticity of those who are to follow.

The Dais Party

The Dais Party is also known as the Platform Party. This group is composed of the university's administrative leaders and very special guests. The Dais Party enters the hall before the faculty and proceeds directly to stage.

Academic Regalia

The tradition of wearing distinctive academic attire at commencement ceremonies originated in Europe in the 12th century. However, gowns and capes had been worn by clerics and ecclesiastics even before that date. A heavy black or brown gown was apparently worn at all times. Hoods and capes were also a necessity during the long, cold European winters because the buildings in which scholars lived, studied and taught were cold and drafty. When not being used to provide warmth, hoods and baggy sleeves served the same purpose as do today's pockets. The academic costume at English universities (from which many of our American commencement traditions originate) can be traced as far back as the middle of the 14th century, to the time when scholars were rebuked that a decent habit was to be worn (Statutes of Peterhouse, 1344). The faculties of American universities have worn academic garb for commencement ceremonies since the beginning of the system. For almost 250 years, each university chose its own costume until it was realized that in 1896 an event unique in history would be taking place. This was the simultaneous celebrations of the 250th anniversary of Harvard University and the 500th anniversary of Heidelberg University. Because of this unique circumstance, the Intercollegiate Bureau of Academic Costume was opened in 1895 to record the distinctive colors of institutions, their arrangement, the particulars of gowns, hoods and caps, as well as information pertaining to academic ceremonies. At that time, an American code of academic dress was agreed upon to which we adhere today with few modifications. Since Spring 2011, FIU has selected to use earth-friendly academic regalia for undergraduate and graduate students. This initiative underlines FIU's commitment to sustainability. At Florida International University, whose colors are blue and gold, the traditional colors of the disciplines are:

Bachelor's candidates wear blue gowns and master's candidates wear black gowns with the following tassel and hood colors representing degrees:

Phi Beta Kappa

Phi Beta Kappa (PBK) is America's most prestigious academic honor society. Since 1776, Phi Beta Kappa has championed education, fostered freedom of thought, and recognized academic excellence. PBK honors the best and brightest liberal arts and sciences undergraduates from 286 top schools across the nation through a highly selective, merit-based invitation process. PBK advocates for the importance of liberal arts and sciences education and equips members with information and tools to thoughtfully engage in American society as leaders, volunteers, and citizens.

It is a distinct honor to be elected to PBK. Only 10% of U.S. colleges and universities have Phi Beta Kappa chapters and these chapters select a maximum of 10% of their liberal arts and sciences graduates to join. Election is based upon the evidence of broad cultural interests, scholarly achievement, and good character. We congratulate the following students for having been elected to the Epsilon Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at FIU.

Dear Panthers:

Fall 2019

Congratulations and welcome to the Panther alumni family—more than 235,000 strong!

You have worked hard to get here and have a lot to be proud of. Let that pride propel you forward as you start or turbocharge your career using the degree you received today. Your family, your community and Panthers everywhere are rooting for you!

As an FIU alumnus you are automatically part of a strong and growing Panther network—the FIU Alumni Association. For starters, you have access to more than 300,000 local and national services, benefits, and discounts. But the real power of our network is what we can do together and how we can give back to our FIU.

Earlier this year FIU launched the public phase of the Next Horizon campaign. The $750 million campaign supports key areas of need and opportunity, focusing on student success and research excellence. If you earned a scholarship at FIU or were part of a program supported by philanthropy, you have benefitted from the campaign.

Now you have a new opportunity to participate. In fact, many of your fellow graduates already have: This year alone, more than 3,000 grads have made a gift to our student emergency fund. Pride is a team sport, and when you get involved by volunteering or making a tax-deductible gift, you make a real impact in people's lives.

The Alumni Association also helps fund student scholarships, provides career coaching, engages in legislative advocacy, and sponsors many major events throughout the year.

Come visit the Alumni Association office anytime you are on campus. You'll find us in MARC Suite 210 at the main campus. Learn more about your Alumni Association by visiting fialumni.com, by following us on social media: @fialumni and #fialumni, or by calling 305-FIU-ALUM.

Remember that we are all ambassadors for FIU and pride in our FIU can show in many different ways: Wear your FIU gear, rock an FIU license plate, come to games, visit our museums, catch a show or a concert, mentor a student. Make a difference.

Go Panthers!
