ROMEO & JULIET

The East-West Project

Written by William Shakespeare

Directed by Phillip M. Church

Shakespeare's timeless masterpiece, "Romeo and Juliet" is ready to illuminate the Wertheim Performing Arts Center in a dynamic new production set in a modern-day city. Romeo, a young high school student and son of a wealthy American oil baron, falls in love with Juliet, the teenage daughter of a prosperous Iranian art investor. While ancient prejudices between the two families continue to deepen, Juliet's Nurse, a woman of Native American descent, intervenes to resolve the bloodshed through her spiritual powers. Yet, the fate of these star-crossed lovers is finally sealed, leaving only the tragic loss of innocence as a disturbing reminder of the inevitability of hatred. Shakespeare's story of love and division could not be more relevant than at this particular time in history.
