Exile and Revolution: José D. Poyo, Key West, and Cuban Independence

Book Presentation by Gerald E. Poyo

October 17, 2014 | 6:30 PM | Books & Books | 265 Aragon Ave., Coral Gables

José D. Poyo (1836–1911) was an activist, publisher, social critic, fundraiser, and foundational figure in the campaign for Cuban independence from Spain. His leadership and his mantra—Adelante la revolución—mobilized an insurrectionist movement in Key West. His multidimensional grassroots work and his newspaper El Yara, the longest-lived Cuban exile newspaper of the 19th century, gave hope to a people who aspired to be liberated from the bonds of colonialism. Exile and Revolution is a comprehensive account of how Poyo and his revolutionary colleagues spurred the working-class community of Key West and transformed their roles as supporting cast to become critical actors in the struggle for Cuban independence.

Gerald E. Poyo is Professor and Chair of the History Department at St. Mary's University in San Antonio, Texas. His research has focused on U.S. Latino history, especially on the history of Cuban exile communities in the United States. He is the author and editor of six books, including Exile and Revolution (University Press of Florida, 2014), Cuban Catholics in the United States, 1960–1988 (University of Notre Dame Press, 2007), and “With All, and for the Good of All” (Duke University Press, 1989).

The event is free and open to the public. Cosponsored by FIU's Department of History and the San Carlos Institute. For more information and to RSVP, please call (305) 348–1991 or write cri@fiu.edu.
