A Video Chat with Pulitzer Prize-Recipient Jane Smiley

By Elman + Cheek

ane Smiley (b.1949) was born in Los Angeles, California, and grew up in Webster Groves, Missouri, a suburb of St. Louis.  She obtained a BA in literature at Vassar College, then earned an MA, MFA, and PhD from the University of Iowa. While working toward her doctorate, she also spent a year studying in Iceland as a Fulbright Scholar. From 1981 to 1996 she was a Professor of English at Iowa State University, teaching undergraduate and graduate creative writing workshops. In 1996, she moved to mid-coast California.

To say Jane Smiley is prolific is an understatement.  She has written 14 novels, 2 collections of short stories, 5 works of non-fiction, and 5 books for young adults.

In 2001, Smiley was elected a member of The American Academy of Arts and Letters. She has participated in the annual Los Angeles Times Festival of Books, the Cheltenham Festival, the National Book Festival, the Hay Festival of Literature and the Arts, and many others. She won the PEN USA Lifetime Achievement Award in 2006, and chaired the judges' panel for the prestigious Man Booker International Prize in 2009.

Smiley's most recent works are a trilogy of novels about an Iowa family over the course of generations. The first novel of the trilogy, Some Luck, was published in 2014 by Random House. The second volume, Early Warning, followed in the spring of 2015, and the third volume, Golden Age, in the fall of 2015.

In 2017, FIU presented Smiley with the Lawrence Sanders Award in Fiction.
