On behalf of the Inter-American Dialogue and Florida International University, we are delighted to invite you to an afternoon discussion on the prospects for change in U.S.-Cuban relations on Wednesday, December 10, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. at the offices of the Dialogue at 1211 Connecticut Ave., NW, Suite 510, in Washington. This session will assess the forces that will shape the U.S.-Cuba relationship in the coming period, assess the significance of the U.S. elections results for Cuban issues, and examine the policy options available to the Obama administration and the U.S. Congress.

The discussion will be led by Damian Fernandez, provost and professor of political science at the State University of New York-Purchase; Tomas Bilbao, executive director the Cuba Study Group; Jake Colvin, vice president of the National Foreign Trade Council; and Anya Landau French, senior fellow at the Lexington Institute. Dan Erikson, Dialogue senior associate and author of "The Cuba Wars" will comment.

We very much hope that you will be able to join us for this important and wide-ranging discussion on the future of U.S.-Cuban relations. Please RSVP by responding to this e-mail or writing meetings@thedialogue.org. With questions please call Paul Wander at 202-463-2932.

Sincerely,

Dan Erikson
