Washington, DC

We are pleased to invite you to join us on Monday, December 3, from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m. at the Inter-American Dialogue for a discussion on US reporting from Cuba. We will examine the multiple challenges facing US journalists who have worked to report accurately on developments in the authoritarian setting of Cuba with its myriad restrictions on information gathering and free expression. Our featured guests include former Havana Bureau chief for the Chicago Tribune Gary Marx; Washington Post columnist and associate editor Eugene Robinson, who wrote Last Dance in Havana; former Havana correspondent for the Florida Sun-Sentinel Vanessa Bauza, who now writes for the Chicago Tribune; and National Public Radio correspondent Tom Gjelten, the author of the forthcoming book Bacardi and the Long Fight for Cuba.

This session is jointly sponsored by the Inter-American Dialogue and Florida International University's Cuban Research Institute. Please let us know if you can be with us by responding to meetings@thedialogue.org. For questions call Paul Wander at 202-463-2932.

Sincerely,
