This year's dance will be a 'gala-like' affair

CAROL KAMINSKAS
Contributing Writer

Now that Homecoming Week is here it's time to see the world in blue and gold.

The Student Programming Council of Biscayne Bay Campus will be hosting the annual Homecoming Dance, the theme for which goes hand-in-hand with the overall theme of homecoming: "See the World in Blue and Gold."

The dance is free to University students, will take place on Nov. 4 in the Wolfe University Center Ballrooms, and starts at 8 p.m. Doors open at 7:30 p.m.

Due to fire hazards space is limited so only the first 300 guests will be allowed in to the dance, according to Tania Dil, president of SPC at BBC. Over 400 people attended last year's dance.

Although all are invited to attend, an FIU student with a valid student ID to enter for free must accompany non-FIU students.

SPC would also like to extend a special invite to those individuals who are running for Homecoming King and Queen at both BBC and Modesto Maidique Campus. Running for Homecoming King and Queen at BBC are Deyan Ivanov, Jamil Charles, Nardo Dorsin, Sholom Neisten, Ana Perez, Angelena Adams, Patricia Martinez, and Maria N

DODGING FOR PEK

Kicking off this year's Homecoming Week, the Student Programming Council put on a pep rally in Panther Square on Nov. 1. Students at Biscayne Bay Campus played dodgeball, double-dutch and other games.

Reynolds

Young will be on the same day of the dance, Nov. 4.

This year's dance is being promoted to bring in alumni and encourage communication between them and the students, according to Dil.

"The purpose of Homecoming is to bring back Alumni and to get them reacquainted with the school," Dil said. "They will be able to get to know students and hopefully become their mentors for the future."

The dance this year is going to be more "gala-like" than a regular homecoming dance like it has been in prior years, according to Dil.

"The WUC ballrooms will be dolled up in blue and gold, the table settings will be immaculate, there will be blue and gold lights flashing around the ballrooms," Dil said.

Dil said the event has "never been so formal and grand" and is looking forward to seeing how it will all come together.

Formal attire is expected but semi-formal will be accepted, Dil said.

Women should wear dresses that are knee length or longer and men should wear suits. Sneakers, jeans, or provocative attire will not be permitted.

A DJ, whose name was not available as of press time, will provide the music.

For more information on the Homecoming dance, contact SPC-BBC. Their office is in WUC 141 and their phone number is (305)919-5280.

Spotlight Miami: For Once in My Life's Hometown Crowd "Catches a Groove"

Darrill Gaschler, Hands on Miami; Cathy Bigham, Associate Producer; Jim Bigham, Director; Javier Peña, Musical Director for The Spirit of Goodwill Band

Darrill Gaschler is the Flexible Programs Manager at Hands on Miami, Producing Partner for Community Cinema. He shared his reflections on the recent screening of For Once in my Life, which featured some very special guests.

Similar to Lynn's experience in Boise – posted on this site last week – this was easily one of our most moving Community Cinema events to date, but more about that in a second!

We started off the evening with a special reception hosted by the Student Programming Council (SPC) and Department of Campus Life and Orientation (CLO) at Florida International University's Biscayne Bay Campus. The SPC and CLO arranged to have the event catered which allowed guests to snack and encouraged mingling prior to the screening. While atypical, this really helped to set the tone and get everyone comfortable with the idea of Community Cinema; ready to dialogue!

What made the evening so cool was the fact that the Goodwill Industries location in which the Spirit of Goodwill band was formed is literally minutes away from the location we were hosting our screening of For Once In My Life! Audience members immediately became excited by the fact that the images and references were highly contemporary and recognizable right from the opening scene. Everyone in the theater cracked up when the film showed former City of Miami Mayor Manny Diaz joining the band in rehearsal, jamming on the tambourine alongside Melissa. While probably not as laughable to audiences viewing from another location, seeing the former Mayor "catching a groove" was enough to put this on most everyone's Top 10 list, and all that developed in the hour following that scene was just icing on the cake.

We had the distinct privilege of having Jim Bigham (Director of FOIML), Cathy Bigham (Associate Producer), Lourdes Little (Goodwill Industries & Executive Producer), and Javier Peña (Musical Director) join us for the event! While it may have initially intimidated some of the audience members to have the filmmakers onsite, in no time everyone began warming up and the conversation grew very organically. It was great to hear the audience members most had the opportunity to immerse themselves in the discussion and allowed them to become emotionally invested in the way that the conversation unfolded. BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Negro League Exhibit brings baseball fever to campus

KATIE LAWRENCE
Contributing Writer

Baseball fever started early at the Biscayne Bay Campus as an event showcasing the Negro Baseball League and their accomplishments was hosted in the Wolf University Center as part of the University's Black History Month activities.

Students wandered through booths of photos and memorabilia on the afternoon of Feb. 8 in the Wolf University Center while televisions played movies charting the historic accomplishments of the Negro League. Even some former league players were on hand to take pictures and share stories of their time in a tumultuous era playing America's greatest game.

The event was sponsored by the Department of Campus Recreation in partnership with More Than a Game, a non-profit organization based in Fort Lauderdale that educates the community about the history of blacks in baseball and promotes the game to inner-city children.

"It's really about keeping the history alive, and getting kids into it," said Danny Phillips, founder and executive director of More Than a Game. "Kids today want to play basketball or football, so we try to remind them how fun baseball can be."

Phillip, a former minor league player, coach, and lifelong baseball fan, founded More Than a Game in 2004. The organization has since put on numerous events with the African-American Library in Fort Lauderdale, worked with Old Dillard Museum and private collectors to bring memorabilia to the masses, and even started inner-city youth little league teams, the last of which Phillip said brought almost 200 kids out.

Derek Davis, the curator of Old Dillard Museum in Fort Lauderdale works closely with Phillip to help bring the spotlight back to baseball, and to stress the importance of its history to black players.

"For the negro league, they were entrepreneurs. They had to build and make a living doing this. That shows the ingenuity they had even through diversity," said Davis.

Keeping in the spirit of the ballpark, hotdogs, nachos, and popcorn were served (notably absent: beer), and students mingled amongst replica jerseys from teams based on the uniforms from as early as 1907.

John Gray, formerly of the Indianapolis Clowns, and Chico Arenas of the 1957 Cuban Giants, set up shop at a booth with photos and statistics from their heydays.

Gray, who played for five years making 300 to 500 mile bus trips a night for eight months and was not allowed to stay in hotel rooms with his team, often comes out to the More Than a Game events.

"It's a history," Gray said. "Our job now is to never let it be forgotten."

...wide budget cuts to education. Our ...risen 15 percent annually, and ...it will continue to rise for the ...able future.

...e variety of courses offered across
...erent majors has diminished, leaving
...udents with less options and difficulty
...enrolling. Many students who rely on
...the Florida Bright Futures Scholarship
...Program have seen their aid reduced.

Student Government understands these items are of the utmost importance for many students. While tough times have affected us all, education must not be viewed as an easy or acceptable place to make cuts. We at Student Government are engaging Florida Senators and Representatives, letting them know of student concerns, especially regarding upcoming legislation.

For instance, textbooks are currently not included in the upcoming tax-free week, despite having been included in the past. We understand that these are tough economic times and understand the amount we pay for books is extremely tax-free week.

Also, while economics is important, impact on... the overall quality of student life, we are overall quality of life and well-being is also a concern. Upcoming legislation is looking to allow individuals with concealed weapons permits the right to carry handguns on campus. We at Student Government, while respecting the Second

legislation.
Ultimately, if Student Government is going to have an impact on these and other items of legislation, as well as the overall quality of student life, we are going to need your help. Now is the time to stand united.
There are variety of ways to get involved on and off campus, some of which require only a few minutes of your time.

On March 22, you can join us for Rally in Tally, where we meet with state Senators and Representatives in Tallahassee, will provide you with more information.

These are just some ways that SGCthe perspective of the Student Government Association. Look for it every other Monday.*

The Beacon cannot support state Bill 234 because the thought of an openly armed campus is frightening.

Supported by Governor Rick Scott
during the campaign trail, Senate Bill 234 aims to permit the open carry of firearms statewide and on college campuses.
The Beacon cannot support legislation that we believe compromises the safety of the University community and security measures already in place by the Department of Public Safety.

Furthermore, the idea of this bill going into law is foolish and poorly conceived.
In the event a verbal fight comes to blows on campus, the situation can turn tragically different with the presence of lethal weapons.

According to University Chief of Police Bill King, the passage of this bill would do little more than give students access to violent materials that may not be in the best of hands, whether or not they have a permit, posing a threat to students and faculty.

Thomas Breslin, chair of the Faculty Senate, said it best: "Why add the fear of being shot to already existing tensions, over deadlines, grades, academic conduct, refusals to write letters of recommendation, or discussion of controversial topics?"

Some may argue that the open presence of firearms on students would be a deterrent for crime and school violence,

Save a child's Heart this Valentine's Day

There are two ways to save a child's heart this Valentine's Day. One is to buy a child a Valentine's card. The other is to buy a child a heart healthy meal.

What was the purpose of this event? Was that purpose accomplished?

To introduce clubs that are available to students <sup>on</sup> campus.

What was positive about this event? Why?

There was a good turn-out, which allowed us to meet and inform many of the new freshmen from summer B.

What was negative about this event? Why?

There were a lot of things going on (vendors, campus life, novelty items) at the same time. This was difficult to keep order.

Should this event be done again next year?

YES.

Please attach any articles, flyers, or photos.

What was the purpose of this event? Was that purpose accomplished?

To showcase our active clubs so students can become members.

What was positive about this event? Why?

This year we got to not only showcase our clubs but we went with a Halloween theme, given the holiday which grabbed more students' attention.

What was negative about this event? Why?

More clubs could have tabled in order to offer more variety. As well as the set up of the tables did not follow the diagram we had given, which made setting up more of a hassle and more work.

Should this event be done again next year?

What was the purpose of this event? Was that purpose achieved?
To introduce all clubs on campus and involvement

What was positive about this event? Why?
Many of the different departments on campus office provide. Students were able to see the involvements that are available to them.

What was negative about this event? Why?
The location for SOC's table was not very comfortable to display our boards. Also, it was overcrowded and there weren't many tables available for our council as well as our clubs to choose from.

Should this event be done again next year?
yes

Nice work => Please note that the councils will need more tables when they showcase their different clubs.

What was the purpose of this event? Was that purpose accomplished?

To inform all of our clubs about our approaching deadlines for this semester, and the requirements they need for their SOC points.

What was positive about this event? Why?

We also held an advisor's training alongside the general meeting, so both the e-board members and their advisor can be on the same page about what their club needs to do in order to receive funding for next semester.

What was negative about this event? Why?

It would have been wonderful if more of the advisors would have been able to make it, but unfortunately some of their schedules conflicted with the time of our meeting.

What was the purpose of this event? Was that purpose accomplished?

To be able to reach out to students who have their classes in the afternoon and are not able to come out to the rest of our club fairs. This way we are able to inform them of our clubs and involvement opportunities as well.

What was positive about this event? Why?

We held our club fair along with Campus Life's late day lattes, this in turn gathered a larger crowd which we were able to inform about SOC and our clubs.

What was negative about this event? Why?

Not many clubs were able to make it out, or stay the full length of the event. This decreased our clubs' exposure.

What was the purpose of this event? Was that purpose accomplished?

To give our students especially those who live on campus a fun filled event on the weekend. Promoting our clubs and organizations as well.

What was positive about this event? Why?

Many of the people from housing were able to come out. This was great because it made them feel more included in the university's activities at BBC.

What was negative about this event? Why?

There was not enough time to market as much as we would have liked.
