

Spring 3-22-2017

Life Around the Hyphen: Inherited Legacies and Their Impact on How We Teach, Write and Talk about Exile/Immigrant Experiences

Rebecca Friedman

Florida International University

Heather Russell

Florida International University

Boris Fishman

Princeton University

Jorge Duany

Florida International University

Ana Luszczyńska

Florida International University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.fiu.edu/cri_events

 Part of the Latin American Studies Commons

Recommended Citation

Friedman, Rebecca; Russell, Heather; Fishman, Boris; Duany, Jorge; and Luszczyńska, Ana, "Life Around the Hyphen: Inherited Legacies and Their Impact on How We Teach, Write and Talk about Exile/Immigrant Experiences" (2017). Cuban Research Institute Events. 384.

https://digitalcommons.fiu.edu/cri_events/384

This work is brought to you for free and open access by the Cuban Research Institute at FIU Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Cuban Research Institute Events by an authorized administrator of FIU Digital Commons. For more information, please contact dcc@fiu.edu.

The Exile Studies Program

In Collaboration with
 The Betsy-South Beach Hotel
 The Department of English
 The College of Arts, Sciences & Education
 Panel Discussion

Life Around the Hyphen: Inherited Legacies and Their Impact on How We Teach, Write and Talk about Exile/Immigrant Experiences

Wednesday, March 22, 2017 from 3:00-4:30 p.m. at Green Library, 220 (MMC)

Chair and Moderator

Dr. Rebecca Friedman is Faculty Fellow and Professor of History at Florida International University. Until recently, she was Co-Director of Miami-Florida European Union Center of Excellence and Director of the European Studies Program. Dr. Friedman's teaching and research interests include Modern Russia, Imperial Russian and Soviet gender, cultural, social history, European identities, Polish History, Family History, and Memoir. She is the author, among many other publications, of Masculinity, Autocracy and the Russian University, 1804-1863.

Panelists

Dr. Heather Russell is Professor of English and Chairperson of the Department of English at Florida International University. Her teaching interests focus on the intersections of race, gender, class, postcoloniality and are reflected in her courses on African American Literature, Major Caribbean Writers and Narratives of Enslavement, to name but a few. Her research has primarily examined narrative form and its relationship to configurations of national/racial identities. Among her numerous publications is her book Legba's Crossing: Narratology in the African Atlantic.

Mr. Boris Fishman is a Professor of Creative Writing at Princeton University. He was born in Minsk, Belarus, and educated in America. Before dedicating himself fulltime to literary pursuits and teaching, Mr. Fishman was a journalist and essayist, contributing his work to such major publications as The New Yorker, The New York Times, The Nation and The Wall Street Journal, The Tablet, to name but a few. Mr. Fishman is the author of two widely reviewed and highly acclaimed novels, A Replacement Life and Don't Let My Baby Do the Rodeo.

Dr. Jorge Duany is Director of the Cuban Research Institute and Professor of Anthropology in the Department of Global & Sociocultural Studies in the Steven J. Green School of International and Public Affairs at Florida International University. He has published extensively on migration, ethnicity, race, nationalism and transnationalism in Cuba, the Caribbean and the United States. He authored and edited more than twenty books, including Puerto Rico: What Everyone needs to Know and Un Pueblo Diasperso: Dimensiones Sociales y culturales de la diáspora Cubana.

Dr. Ana Luszczyńska is Butler Waugh Professor of Literature, Director of Graduate Studies in English and the Hispanic Serving Institutions Pathways Coordinator at Florida International University. Her teaching and research interests focus on Literary Theory, Continental Philosophy, Caribbean Literature, Latin American Literature and Women Studies. Her many publications include her highly acclaimed book The Ethics of Community: Nancy, Derrida, Morrison, and Menendez.

Co-sponsored by Sigma Tau Delta, Graduate English Association and

For more information call Dr. Asher Z. Milbauer, Director of The Exile Studies Program, at (305) 348-3155
 Program is free and open to the public.