Regents approve downtown campus

RUSTY SEVIGNY

The Florida Board of Regents met at the North Campus of Florida International University on Friday, Sept. 16, and, among other actions, gave its approval to a downtown center for FIU.

FIU President Harold Crosby requested authorization to "proceed with exploration" of a downtown campus site. The new campus would serve as part of the New World Center downtown redevelopment project. The city of Miami, through the Downtown Development Authority, would purchase the land necessary for the site, and then turn it over to the state for the establishment of the campus.

THE BOARD of Regents also reaffirmed its support of President Crosby and his reorganizational programs at FIU. Board Chairman Marshall Criser said that Crosby had been sent to FIU because of his administrative abilities and that the BOR was pleased with his progress. "There are going to be some changes that people will be concerned about," he said, "but we are confident that it will be in the best interests of the people of the state of Florida."

In other actions, the BOR welcomed two new members. Murray Dubbin, who succeeds Marshall Harris on the board, is a former legislator from Miami. Lesley J. Miller, a student at the University of South Florida, was introduced as the first student regent.

FIU's Big Event

Fall Festival begins Friday

BILL ASHTON
News Editor

Fall Festival is coming this weekend. FIU's biggest annual event, the festival will be expanded this year to three days of events, food, and activities for the entire family (Friday, Saturday, and Sunday).

Fall Festival Director Rose Brown says that this year's festival, FIU's fifth, will contribute to a new atmosphere at both the Tamiami and North Miami Campuses. Sunday's events will be centered around the North Miami Campus, located on the old Interama site at 15100 Biscayne Blvd.

Brown, an SGA Associate from the School of Education, feels that more students will get involved with projects like the Fall Festival in the future. She said that "everyone is excited about the Superstars events, the Gong Show and other activities they can participate in. Even administrators are wearing Fall Festival shirts. Administrators and students are getting involved with each other. I think that there is a new spirit here at FIU."

Brown said that one of the most exciting events will be the first Fall Festival King and Queen contest. FIU's equivalents to Homecoming King and Queen will be chosen on Thursday, and announced later. Contestants must be FIU students. Anyone interested should contact Rose Brown or Mickey Minagorri at 552-2121 before Thursday.

WAXY's solid gold disco will visit the campus Friday, bringing fifties records and lots of contests. There will be a prize awarded for the best 1950's outfit. The film "Bugsy Malone" will be screened Friday in UH-140.

THERE WILL be activities all day Saturday, October 1. The "FIU Superstars" will compete at 11 a.m. near the bus stop at Tamiami Campus.

Tatum O'Neal and Walter Matthau star in "The Bad News Bears," the wacky film about little league baseball shown in UH 140 at 1:30 p.m.

Other Saturday events will include cartoons, an international bazaar and a ribs and chicken dinner, all in the UH area. Free ice cream will be served at the softball game (between the SGA and the Athletic Dept.), which will begin at 4 p.m. at the baseball diamond.

THE HIGHLIGHT of Sunday's festivities will be the Gong Show at the North Miami Campus on the patio at 5 p.m. Semi-talented acts from around the world are expected to vie for fame and fortune. Entrants should turn in their Gong Show applications by noon Friday, Sept. 30.

Applications and Fall Festival schedules of events are available from the SGA office (UH 310) and the Student Activities Office (UH 211).

A big Florida International University aluminum can drive and raffle will kick off at the Fall Festival Saturday. Bring your cans to the patio area by the fountain. Those who bring enough aluminum will be issued raffle tickets, and become eligible for a drawing for fabulous prizes.

Among the events that accompany Fall quarter each year are the Student Government elections. Any degree-seeking student at Florida International University can run for a Senate seat. Senators are elected by students in their own School.

There are four open seats in the College of Arts and Sciences, four seats in the School of Hotel, Food and Travel, and three open seats in each of the Schools of Business, Education, Technology and Health and Social Services.

Senate seats up for grabs in elections

STUDENTS interested in running in the Fall elections should pick up an Elections Guidelines packet in the Student Government office, UH 310. The packet explains the procedure for filing Declaration of Candidacy petitions with the required 20 signatures. The Declaration of Candidacy petitions are due in the SGA office by Friday Oct. 7.

Validated candidates will be contacted by Oct. 10, and election rules will be explained to eligible candidates in a meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 11.

For students wishing to participate in SGA functions but not interested in running for election, there are standing committees upon which students who are not Senators may serve.

THE STUDENT Government Association is primarily responsible for the allocation of Activity and Service Fees which are deducted from each student's tuition. The SGA also participates in determining university policies. Meetings are held Wednesday mornings.

Elections for Senate seats will be held on October 17, 18 and 19. For further information, contact Cindy Burton, Commissioner of Elections, at 552-2121.

In Brief

Stick 'em up

1977-78 parking decals are being sold at the Cashier's office on the first floor of Primera Casa. Students, faculty and staff are required by university rules to have one on the rear bumper of each car parked on campus.

Cars parked in decal parking lots without a new sticker will be ticketed. Decals cost five dollars for faculty and staff, and three dollars for students. The decals are good for one year, September through August.

Parking and traffic rules are printed in a booklet which may also be obtained at the Cashier's office. Parking and traffic tickets issued on campus are Metropolitan Dade County citations.

Tenors, anyone?

Anyone who likes to sing is invited to join FIU's Community Chorus. Fall quarter rehearsals begin on Monday, Oct. 3, from 7-9:30 p.m., in VH 118, and will continue each Monday night throughout the quarter. More information can be obtained by calling Nancy at 552-2895.

De-value the poundage

Free "Slimnastics" classes will be held this fall in the Tursair Building near the tennis courts on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 5:30 p.m. The classes will last for one hour and are open to faculty, staff, and students. Leotards are recommended apparel for the classes, which begin on Monday, Sept. 26.

Oil company has grant money

The Union Oil Company of California awards funds for scholarships and fellowships, graduate study grants and other educational research. Proposals for grant support can be on an informal basis, and should be limited to three pages or less plus any necessary supplements or appendixes.

Proposals may be sent to R.P. VanZandt, Union Oil Company of California Foundation, 461 South Boylston St., Los Angeles, Calif. 90017.

Child Care Center has openings

The Child Care Center of Florida International University announces that it still has openings in the 2½ year old class.

For further information contact Nancy Ponn, Director of the Center, at 552-2143.

Hotel students win scholarships

Seven students in FIU's School of Hotel, Food, and Travel have won scholarships from the National Institute for the Food Service Industry. Paula Ballard will receive the NIFI-Heinz Scholarship Award, which is supported by the H.J. Heinz Company.

Winners of the Golden Plate Scholarship Award, sponsored jointly by NIFI and the International Food Service Manufacturers Association Educational Foundation, are Catherine M. Chow, Gregory Deininger, John Gallo, Ronnie Garrett, Ruby Harkness, and John Saccomanno. The seven students were among 130 winners chosen from over 800 applicants.

Reminder

The University community is reminded that news and announcements should be submitted to the International as early as possible for adequate coverage.

"Hermit Crabs as Pets: To Be or Not To Be" is the subject of a conference to be held Friday, September 30, in Athenaeum 100.

The conference is sponsored by Florida International University's Department of Biological Sciences, the Joint Center for Environmental and Urban Problems and the Sea Grant Program of the State University System.

THE PUBLIC is invited to attend. The fee of $4 includes lunch. Students may attend for $1 (does not include lunch). The conference will be from 8 a.m.-5:30 p.m. All interested individuals should contact Dr. Pat McLaughlin at 552-2201 or Betty Sharpe at 552-2285.

The conference is an outgrowth and response to the recent rise in popularity of Coenobita clypeatus, a semi-terrestrial hermit crab native to the West Indies, as pets.

According to Dr. McLaughlin, professor of Biological Sciences, C. clypeatus is the only terrestrial hermit crab in the West Indies. While the adult crabs mate on land, the sea still serves as the nursery. The female carries the fertilized eggs on her abdomen until almost hatched. The eggs are deposited in the sea from cliffs or by laying them in the surf. After hatching, the larvae become part of the plankton.

UPON metamorphosis, they come ashore and find a shell to serve as an armored home. The crabs change shells when outgrown, or oftentimes at whim. Like marine species, terrestrial hermits are scavengers and will eat almost anything.

Dr. McLaughlin, the organizer of the conference, first took an interest in hermit crabs in 1957. Taken by their "messy taxonomy" (difficulty of classification) she studied specimens from the Bering Sea for her doctoral research.

While the hermit crab might have been better named gypsy crab due to its self-reliant ways, recently it has been found that certain hermits will occupy worm tubes in rock and coral, finding a sedentary life just as rewarding (perhaps, better living up to their name).

ALSO finding hermit crabs' ways rewarding are the people marketing these creatures. Amusing and simple to care for, their popularity is more easily understood than that of one of their predecessors, the pet rock.

Graphics by Richard Seigny

A few months after C. clypeatus went on sale, battle lines formed. An environmentalist group complained to Jordan Marsh Stores, then retailing the crabs. Sale was stopped.

Some months ago, Dr. McLaughlin was approached by the Great American Crab Company, a hermit crab marketer, about the possibility of a conference. She decided that a conference would be a good approach to what is "essentially a fisheries management problem." Adding with a slight chuckle that she is a "member of almost every (environmental) group," she does not "believe, as many people do, that greed necessarily will wreck everything. Many of the hermit-marketers are interested in seeing that the crabs are properly cared for, although a few unscrupulous operators have wiped out entire populations."

WHILE mildly deprecating of society's "premium on appearances" and inordinate "desire for material goods" she hopes that a sensible discussion of the issues can balance the disparate interests of marketers, consumers and environmentalists.

The four panel discussions scheduled — Scientific Perspectives, Commercial Aspects, Environmental Issues, and Regulatory Requirements and Enforcement — reflect this approach.

Dr. McLaughlin believes that education, knowledge and communication will ultimately resolve environmental issues. She hopes that the conference "will set a precedent and establish a procedure by which the fate of any pressured species might be evaluated."

The Hermit Crab

*The Hermit Crab is often sad,
He has no Mother or no Dad,
He lives alone and that's no fun,
He rarely ever sees the sun.*

*An empty sea-shell for a home,
Moved about by ocean foam.
He uses one claw as a door,
Life for him must be a bore.*

*Of the thousand species, I am glad,
I am not a Hermit Crab.*

Financial Aid offers loans, grants and jobs

RUSTY SEVIGNY
Editor

There is a Financial Aid Office on campus for students who need money to attend school. The office offers a variety of plans which include loans, grants, and other methods assessed directly to the student's individual financial needs.

The loans include the National Direct Student Loan, Federally Insured Loan, and Nursing Loans.

GRANTS, which do not have to be repaid, include the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant, Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant, Florida Student Assistant Grant, and a Nursing Grant.

College-Work-Study is a program by which students can work up to 20 hours per week in an on-campus job. CWS students earn $2.50 per hour to start, and increase to $2.75 per hour after 10 pay periods.

There are also off-campus jobs. Students employed off-campus earn $2.75 to start, increasing to $3 after 10 pay periods.

THE FINANCIAL Aid Office also has short-term loans for tuition purposes only. These are available to students who have been enrolled at FIU for at least one quarter. The loan is payable in 60 days.

The Law Enforcement Educational Program supplies grants and loans to students employed in law enforcement or those enrolled in the Criminal Justice Program.

Forms and information for all financial aid programs are available at the Financial Aid Office, PC 125.

Calculation of Grade Point Average

	HRS	GR	GP
HIS 402	5.0	C	10
ENG 317	5.0	A	20	15

2.00 = C Average

- The letter grade F is to be an instructor assignable grade for courses in which letter grades are assigned. The two possible grading systems for courses would be A, B, C, D, F or CR/NC.
- The IN (the temporary incomplete grade) is to be awarded only in those cases in which the coursework is not completed for reasons beyond the student's control.
The IN grade must be made up within two quarters after the IN is received. If it is not completed after that time, the IN would default to a grade specified by the instructor. All IN grades will default one week prior to the end of the second quarter.
- The NC grade may be assigned as a default grade for an incomplete grade to indicate a permanent incomplete in any course in which letter grades are assigned.
- The letter grades F and NC will carry zero grade points and credit hours of F and NC will be used in calculating the grade point average. The credit hours of CR will not be used in calculating the grade point average.
- The period of time during which the DR grade is assigned for an officially dropped course is the second through the sixth week of classes.
- The policy for withdrawal from the University is as follows: A student who officially registers for a quarter and who subsequently decides not to attend or to leave during the first six weeks of classes must officially withdraw from the University through the Office of Admissions and Records. The transcript record of a student who withdraws before the end of the first week of classes will contain no references to the student being registered that quarter.
- A student may withdraw after the sixth week of the quarter only for circumstances beyond the student's control and with permission of the dean. A student who leaves the University without officially withdrawing will receive grades for each course being taken.
- No undergraduate student will be dismissed under the academic dismissal policy prior to attempting a minimum of 30 quarter hours of coursework. No graduate student will be dismissed under the academic dismissal policy prior to attempting a minimum of 15 quarter hours of coursework as a graduate student.
- A student will be dismissed for an inadequate rate of progress following any four consecutive quarters of registration in which the student has received grades of WI, DR, or IN in more than one half the course credits attempted.

Campus TV envisions bright future

GINGER DAVIS
Features Editor

Attempts to get an FIU closed-circuit television station (WFIU) beyond the concept stage have finally been successful through the work and perseverance of a group of students. This summer a pilot broadcast was prepared.

Under the direction of Communications student Vince Paris, chairman of WFIU's executive board, the pilot and plans for further programming are in the production stages.

THE STAFF and board of WFIU have divided themselves into two individual operations systems — technical and reportorial — that work interdependently.

System I, under the supervision of Sal Angerome, has writing and reporting responsibilities, make-up and editing duties, and is the base for all on-the-air personnel.

Executive Board Chairman Richard Romano is primary supervisor for operations of System II, the technical aspect. This system oversees lighting, camera and sound functions.

A FIVE-MEMBER executive board heads the WFIU operation, and general by-laws have been established.

The staff is presently formulating plans for the airing of documentaries, forums, meetings, movies and special interest programs.

Operating without a budget at this time, WFIU is utilizing video and sound equipment owned by the University and the Student Government Association. Not permitted to air paid advertising by decree of the Federal Communications Commission, the station is hoping to secure donations from interested businesses and organizations. In return, public service announcements will be aired for that organization during regular broadcast hours.

AS A student-operated venture, WFIU encourages other currently enrolled full or part time students who may be interested in working on the staff, to apply. Those interested are encouraged to contact the Executive Board at 552-2820, or write WFIU, c/o Learning Resources Center, VH 247, FIU, Tamiami Campus, Miami, Fla. 33199.

The first regular broadcast of WFIU can be seen on Friday, Sept. 30 at noon and 5 p.m. at four locations in University House: the Rathskeller, the cafeteria, the game room, and the Forum, on closed circuit monitors.

THE PILOT program is scheduled to air Wednesday, Sept. 28 in UH 140 at 1 p.m. The student body is invited to attend, and seating for the premier will be on a first come-first served basis.

Comments and suggestions are invited by the staff of WFIU in regard to future programming.

A giraffe, an elephant, a zebra and a flamingo have all taken up residence at Florida International University's Child Care Center. They live around an aquarium stocked with exotic tropicals, a space capsule, and a fresh-water pond.

Does this sound like some strange new research project of Biological Sciences? Not at all — this odd conglomeration of wonderful creatures and objects has taken concrete form by way of sewer pipe paintings at the Center.

THE FORMERLY boring

concrete pipes used as toys by the children at the Child Care Center have been painted with vivid scenes of African prairies, outer space, glades, and jungle scenes, enough to take any child's imagination into the wildest fantasies.

The artist was Marina Newfeld, the mother of a child at the Center. A former student at FIU, Newfeld planned and executed the entire project as a contribution to the Center.

Because of the dimensions of the pipes, no adult can intrude into the imaginary worlds depicted within. But the children obviously have no trouble crawling in and taking off.

Homecoming: Sunblazers to host Brahmas

SCOTT EYERS
Sports Editor

Florida International soccer coach Bill Nuttall will lead his Sunblazers into their Homecoming game seeking to "settle a score," Saturday, Oct. 1, at 1 p.m. with the University of South Florida.

Last year the Sunblazers took a tough loss to USF in the closing minutes. Nuttall remembers it well. And he doesn't want to see it repeated. USF is a traditionally tough foe and a nationally ranked team.

OF FIU's 18 players, about half are new. Nuttall feels that the key is how well his team plays together on the field.

"We have good depth," says Nuttall.

The Sunblazers will feature new players at the forward positions. To win, the team must coordinate its attack well.

Some playing time has already been logged. The Sunblazers won a Bahamian sponsored soccer tournament during the summer.

FLORIDA International University's soccer team defeated the Naval Academy, 5-1, in a Navy-hosted tournament played in mid-September.

The following day the Sunblazers played Middlebury to a 0-0 tie, thus emerging from the tournament with a 1-0-1 record.

Nuttall was pleased with the team's play against Navy: "It was an all-around good team effort. They really played tough."

THE SUNBLAZERS dominated the Navy game all the way through. They were never in serious trouble. Gary Pollack and Julio Avilez scored 2 goals apiece and Wayne Guthrie added the other score.

Against Middlebury the soccer team didn't play quite so well. The tie, coming in the wake of the victory over nationally ranked Navy team, was somewhat disappointing.

Leadership on the field is provided by mid-fielder Neville Prince and fullback Les Peterson. They are the team's co-captains.

THE SUNBLAZERS face a tough schedule this season that includes 5 nationally ranked teams. However, Nuttall feels that the team's seasonal outlook is good if they jell as a unit.

Florida International also will be the host of the NCAA Division 2 National Soccer Championship. Nuttall would like to see the Sunblazers partake in that tournament rather than serve as spectators.

Lady spikers' hopes are high

New head coach Linda Miscovic has high hopes for the FIU women's volleyball team in 1977.

On Tuesday, October 4, the FIU team will play at Miami-Dade South. The following day they take on Broward Community at Broward Central. Then it's back to Dade South for a tournament on Oct. 7-8.

COACH Miscovic feels FIU will have a good team this season. The 11 players that make up the Sunblazer squad all have had playing experience. As they play together their talents should blend into a solid unit.

The Sunblazers have a strong roster. The only thing they lack (on paper) is height. However, a lack of height is not necessarily detrimental to any volleyball team.

Assistant coach Mitzy Treadway also feels the team will do well: "We have a good squad and everyone gets along real well. That's really important."

THERE have been several rule changes this year. The court has been shortened by 6 inches and a block of an opposing team's spike does not count as one of the three hits allowed on each side. Treadway commented, "They're adjusting to the rule changes nicely."

Senior Betty Williams is expected to contribute greatly to the team. She has played well in the past and a good season from Williams will be a key factor to the success of this year's squad.

The home opener will be against the University of Miami, October 10 at 3 p.m. Home games will be played this season at the Youth Fair Stadium, adjacent to FIU.

Sports Briefs

Fall Festival softball game

The Student Government Association Co-ed softball team will be taking on the Athletic Department team, October 1, at 4 p.m. on the baseball diamond.

The SGA team consists of numerous Senators and students. The Athletic Department team will not only include members of the Athletic Department, but also any other faculty member wanting to participate.

Already playing every Sunday afternoon, the SGA team is strong and well organized.

Rumor has it that Vice-President of Student Affairs, Dr. Judy Merritt, will be the starting pitcher for the Athletics. If that doesn't surprise you, maybe the free ice cream will.

Did You Know
Godzilla
Was A Co-op?

Not many people realize this, but Godzilla co-oped in Urban Renewal at the University of Tokyo. Like the students in F.I.U.'s Co-operative Education program, ol'Baggy Scales alternated quarters of full-time study in his academic area with full-time paid on-the-job experience in his chosen field. For Godzilla, Co-op paid off — he got permanent employment in his field through his Co-op experience and is seen above happily at work eating the city of Yokohama. And Co-op can work for you, too. Unfortunately, all our positions for 50-ton giant lizards are currently filled, but we have responsible positions open for students in Accounting, Fine Arts, Chemistry, Finance, Industrial Technology, Criminal Justice, History, Computers, Public Administration, Physics, International Relations...almost any major you can think of.

Student number not necessarily Social Security no.

BILL ASHTON
News Editor

Florida International University students who do not want their Social Security numbers to be used as student identification numbers are issued numbers by the University.

When registering at FIU, applicants are asked for their Social Security number "for the records." This is used as a student ID number because "it is easier for people to remember and easier for the institution to remember", according to Carmen Brown of the Admissions office.

Many foreign students, however, do not have Social Security numbers. They are issued special student numbers by the Admissions office. These special numbers are assigned consecutively, beginning with 000-00-0000 four years ago. Over one thousand special ID numbers have been issued.

The federal privacy act prohibits universities from requiring the use of a Social Security card for identification. However, the universities are free to ask, since voluntary use of the number is legal.

Brown said that she knows of no one who refused to give a Social Security number for reasons of privacy. She added that, if anyone did request that their Social Security number not be used, the Admissions office would assign one from the foreign students' sequence.

The student number must be on all Student Identification cards, which allow students to vote in SGA elections and admit them to certain events. The line reserved for the student number says "social security number"; though no one is required to give it.

Mineral class to introduce rock structure

The Earth Sciences Department and the Department of Conferences and Short Courses are co-sponsoring a course this fall entitled "Mineralogy for the Amateur." The course will begin on October 6, and will meet Thursday evenings at 8 p.m. through Dec. 1.

"Mineralogy for the Amateur" will be an introduction to the world of minerals. It will provide an introduction to atomic structure and its interrelationship to the various physical properties of minerals such as crystal form, color and hardness. Students will learn to identify approximately 50 important minerals.

The course will be taught by Dr. Usman Sayeed, Assistant Professor of Geology at FIU. Dr. Sayeed also teaches courses in Petrology, Earth Resources, and Structural, Economic, and Environmental Geology. He has been doing research on lunar rocks for the past two years.

Registration fee for the course is $30 and registration forms can be obtained by calling 552-2600.

Elders Institute offers courses for retirees

RUSTY SEVIGNY
Editor

Putting interest into the lives of older people through education is the concern of Armand Lackenbach and the new "Elders Institute" at the North Miami Campus of Florida International University.

Lackenbach, a retired engineer and patent lawyer, is one of many volunteers who has helped coordinate the founding of the Elders Institute.

COURSES of particular interest to senior citizens will be offered through the Institute. The non-credit daytime courses include "How to Live on Your Income," "Contemporary Art," "The U.S. in World Affairs," "Medical Hints for a Healthier Life" and "Consumer Rights: How to Attain Them."

Lackenbach said that retired persons are interested in all of these and other subjects. "They want to learn through continuing education and that's what the Elders Institute will provide."

The courses, which last for eight weeks, will begin on Monday, Sept. 26. Each course will cost $20. For further information, call the Elders Institute from 11 a.m.-3 p.m., Monday through Friday at 940-5700.

Check your mailbox for the Informer

Every pre-registered Florida International University student should receive a copy of The Informer in the mail this week. But there is no need for alarm.

The Informer has nothing to do with the underworld, drug dealers, or terrorists. It is a newsletter, published by the SGA, to let students know about upcoming events and policy changes at FIU.
