Special Collections holdings include rare books, manuscripts, artifacts, photographs, maps, architectural drawings, and audio materials that document the history and culture of Miami and Florida, the Caribbean, and Latin America. The University Archives serves as the depository of the official records relating to the founding, development of and future plans for Florida International University. These collections are available to the public for discovery and research.

The Florida International University dPanther digital repository hosts unique digital collections of cultural, historical, scholarly, educational, and community resources; including rare books, manuscripts, maps, photographs, and oral histories held by the university as well as partner institutions.
