3-24-1980

The President's Choice new paintings and prints by Arnoldi Ups and Downs

The Visual Arts Gallery at Florida International University Frost Art Museum

The Patricia and Phillip Frost Art Museum

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.fiu.edu/frostcatalogs

Recommended Citation

https://digitalcommons.fiu.edu/frostcatalogs/5

This work is brought to you for free and open access by the Frost Art Museum at FIU Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Frost Art Museum Catalogs by an authorized administrator of FIU Digital Commons. For more information, please contact dcc@fiu.edu.
The President's Choice
new paintings and prints by

ANN WORL

UPS AND DOWNS
The President's Choice
new paintings and prints by

UPS AND DWONDS

Visual Arts Gallery
Florida International University
Miami, Florida

March 24 - April 2, 1980

Catalog design: Florida International University Publications Department
“...I state: The world looks like this. Fine and flat. I say it’s clean, the colours pure. I also maintain it easy to dig. I claim that just as the colours are pure the water is clean the air and the rainbow is pure with pure, clean colours, the sunset visible. I say that things are as simple as this primitive bowler hat and candy stick and big fat ball. I claim and hope the stage setting is perfectly illuminated and throws the right shadows. I claim that the shadows are as beautiful as the things throwing. In short I say that the system, which in this picture of a perfect successful juggle act makes the top hats and the bottom balls balance without pressing or exhausting or tumbling — is a system without problems. A shiny world. I have tried to paint an idyll because of my being a Dane trapped in cream-country and because the only way to work is to describe the things you really know. At the same time I find this the only possible way of elaborating, explaining, dissecting and analysing this blessed fat smoothe horrible situation so easy and difficult to live in. . . .”
Per Arnoldi, born in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1941, deals with imagery of the familiar. His stylized props of the circus world and the theater are painted in pure clear colors—the bowler hat, the candy stick, the ball, the ladder, the rainbow are presented with humor and joy—the “on stage” world we delight in seeing.

In 1978, Arnoldi added another dimension to his art, painting a series on the strange and dramatic life and death of the great aerialist Karl Wallenda. With that series, the artist reminds the viewer of the tragic as well as the joyous nature of the world. Yet he continues to paint the “shiny” world of the circus and theater—the illusions we happily recall from childhood—devoid of pathos, replete with joy and excitement.

Arnoldi feels that the influence of art is “important and irresistible. "... one does not have to be an artist or a prophetic genius to realise that our world is chaotic, confused, morally cracking and probably breaking apart or sinking as tragically beautiful as Venice. The artist tries on behalf of everyone desperately to find at least one last lasting proper picture of some quality.”

Exhibitions include: International Biennale, Venice; International Graphic Biennale, Paris; International Biennale, Tokyo; Smithsonian workshop prints, Naples, Rome, Milan, Bologna; Museo Arte Moderno, Mexico City; National Collection of Fine Arts, Washington, D.C.
Big blue Wallenda.
acrylic on canvas 1979
140 x 200 cm.
Stage set with balls.
Ups and Downs.
Acrylic on canvas 1980
140 x 200 cm.
Stage set with ladders. Ups and downs.
acrylic on canvas 1980
140 x 200 cm.
Stage set with sticks.
Ups and downs.
acrylic on canvas 1980
140 x 200 cm.
Stage set with hats.
Ups and downs.
acrylic on canvas 1980
140 x 200 cm.
Stage set with big spaghetti.
acrylic on canvas 1978
140 x 150 cm.
Stage set with falling chairs. Ups and downs of the flying Wallendas. Gott unter uns. The higher the harder.

acrylic on canvas 1979
160 x 140 cm.
Big black Wallenda
acrylic on canvas 1979
140 x 200 cm.
Stage set with hats.
Left to right.
acrylic on canvas 1979
140 x 200 cm.
Portrait in front of Stage set with hats.
acrylic on canvas 1980
160 x 140 cm.
Stage set with blue hats. Balance.
acrylic on canvas 1979
160 x 140 cm.
Stage set with blue balls.
acrylic on canvas 1979
160 x 140 cm.
Big sentimental stage set with falling chair. I am red. I am blue. acrylic on canvas 1979 160 x 280 cm.
This public document was promulgated at an annual cost of $934 or $3.74 per copy to inform the public about a special program.