ARTISTIC DIRECTOR'S NOTE

Passion is the driving force behind all that we do here at FIU Theatre. Our distinguished faculty are outstanding theatre artists and dedicated teachers whose curiosity about the human condition leads us to Create. Innovate. Inspire.

FIU Theatre has a very exciting menu of plays for the 2016-2017 season, kicking off with our first Spanish language production, the dark comedy La Nona. The Pot, our second production, goes beyond the politics of immigration. A Mid(winter) Night's Dream—yes, winter—is our colorful contribution to the holiday season, which closes the fall part of our season. The spring opens with the outrageous rock-comedy-horror musical Little Shop of Horrors and closes with a fresh interpretation of the riveting Arthur Miller play, All My Sons.

Be sure to give us a look on our FIU Theatre website (theatre.fiu.edu) and on our social media channels. We hope to see you again soon.

Thank you for your support!

DIRECTOR’S NOTE

La Nona has always held a special place on my bookshelf. It is a timeless allegorical play set in mid 1970’s Argentina that centers around the misfortunes of an Italian immigrant family trying to satisfy their voracious Grandma. It is a play born from one of Argentina’s leading theatrical styles, grotesco Criollo, which slips seamlessly between comedy and tragedy, acting like a curved mirror to amplify the flaws of different social groups.

I chose to direct this play now because it is as relevant as ever. These characters, although realistic, are allegories of the universal follies of society. They belong to the anxious working class on the brink of extinction. And there, lurking in the background like a vulture, is La Nona waiting for her next meal with ravenous hunger.

I am also excited about what this play means for FIU Theatre. It is the first time in our 42 year history that we are producing a play in our main season entirely in Spanish. It marks a new era that opens a huge door of opportunities for our students. I am excited about introducing them and our audiences to a rich theatrical culture, performed in their native language. This makes us a truly international theatre.

The Kennedy Center
THE JOHN F. KENNEDY CENTER FOR THE PERFORMING ARTS

The Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival™ 46, part of the Rubenstein Arts Access Program, is generously funded by David and Alice Rubenstein.

Additional support is provided by The Honorable Stuart Bernstein and Wilma E. Bernstein; Dr. Gerald and Paula McNichols Foundation; the National Committee for the Performing Arts; The Harold and Mimi Steinberg Charitable Trust; and Beatrice and Anthony Welters and the AnBryce Foundation.

This production is entered in the Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival (KCACTF). The aims of this national theater education program are to identify and promote quality in college-level theater production. To this end, each production entered is eligible for a response by a regional KCACTF representative, and selected students and faculty are invited to participate in KCACTF programs involving scholarships, internships, grants and awards for actors, directors, dramaturgs, playwrights, designers, stage managers and critics at both the regional and national levels.

Productions entered on the Participating level are eligible for invitation to the KCACTF regional festival and may also be considered for national awards recognizing outstanding achievement in production, design, direction and performance.

Last year more than 1,300 productions were entered in the KCACTF involving more than 200,000 students nationwide. By entering this production, our theater department is sharing in the KCACTF goals to recognize, reward, and celebrate the exemplary work produced in college and university theaters across the nation.
COMING SOON!

Three weeks before America votes, FIU Theatre joins the debate on immigration. For the characters in The Pot, immigration isn't just politics, it's their life—because love knows no borders.
